

Jennifer Ettinger

#Social Correspondent & Social Media Strategist

Jennifer Ettinger is Canada's first Social Media Correspondent and a globally-connected powerhouse. An American-Canadian growth hacker, she's a dual social citizen who's built her profile and that of the brands she's worked with organically, and authentically. A member of some of the most influential social media incubators and collaborators, including the twitterati, she has built a reputation for creating true, amplified brand awareness across social media channels.

You may recognize her as CTV's Social Media and Online PR Correspondent, covering premieres, launches, campaigns, Up Fronts and Red Carpet events including the Oscars, Vanity Fair events, ET, Insider, and Access Hollywood.

"It is refreshing to work with Jennifer Ettinger because she knows her stuff, she understands the ever-changing situations faced by modern media, and she speaks plainly in terms of practical value. The social-media world can seem intimidating at times, but it doesn't have to be, and Jennifer can help to navigate the paths to success."

Bill Harris - TV Critic

For brand launches and VIP events she rallies the collective power of her influencer network to create national and international awareness across a variety of markets and interest groups. The broad reach of her network surpasses the ROI of traditional advertising and promotions, generating true engagement and on-going interest in a brand or event, beyond the traditional social media mindset of broadcasting posts and content. Her content is curated, focused on visual story-telling and true engagement with intended audiences across multiple channels.

Jennifer's 20+ strong North American content amplification team are comprised of a dynamic group of Social Media strategists, community managers, event correspondents, influencers, content-creators, instructors and more. Their reach spans major markets and verticals. Members provide multi-lingual correspondence, including Chinese, French, and Spanish.

The only CGI in the pilot is the bodies in the water. Martinez' character has superhuman abilities, but it's all done with stunts because "It's not a Marvel show. She's not a superhero." #TheCrossing #TCA18

"A female body is like a blank canvas, waiting to be adorned, captivating the spirit of the individual, learning her highlights and contrasts, allowing her unique beauty to surface to the forefront of her own masterpiece."

JENNIFER ETTINGER

Jennifer Ettinger's story is a page-turner in itself. After being bedridden and almost broken for two years, Jennifer took control of her dis-ease, and two minutes at a time, she rebuilt her health. An innocent tweet during this period of regrowth and reemergence started an upward spiral of success, and her eventual foray into television, print and social media.

She became a Best-Selling Author, chronicling her journey in her first book, Find Your Inner Goddess; hosted two popular television shows on Rogers TV; built an enviable and active social media community; and stepped into her groove walking the RED CARPET as a National correspondent with Twitterati to interview celebrities during awards shows and premieres - and all without an Agent.

How did she do it? Authentically! Jen enthusiastically embraced her freedom from pain, sharing her story to help others, fostering strong, genuine relationships with people around the world. She built it and and boy did they come. Along the way she learned the inner secrets for successful brand building and content amplification, and has become an expert in Social PR and is a globally recognized and coveted social media correspondent.
